Firestone FAST FACT

Firestone Racing has developed over 60 different race tire specifications for the 2019 NTT IndyCar® Series season. Each Firestone Firehawk race tire also is specifically engineered for the type of course on which it will be used (road, street, and oval). The primary Firestone race tires offer a competitive balance between speed, cornering, and durability that can be used on all three types of courses. Visually differentiated by red sidewalls, Firestone alternate tires have a softer compound than primary tires, allowing for faster speeds and better cornering, but with quicker wear. Alternate tires are only used on street and road courses like Road America.
